BIG PRICE FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

Actress Settles With Marquis of Northampton for $250,000

SETTLEMENT ANNOUNCED

This Morning When Case Was Called for Trial—Court Room Was Crowded With Women Who Expected Racy Evidence.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, July 2. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars and all the costs of the suit is the price the Marquis of Northampton has agreed to pay to settle the suit for breach of promise brought against him by the actress, Miss Daisy Markham, whose real name is Miss Violet Moss. The costs will amount to a considerable sum on account of the number of distinguished counsel engaged to plead for the opposing parties.

The Marquis, better known as Earl Compton, recently succeeded to the title at the age of 21. The settlement was announced when the case was called in the high court of justice this morning, in a court room crowded with fashionable women, who had come in anticipation of listening to some interesting evidence.

The Marquis had previously offered $50,000 to settle the case.

When Miss Markham insisted on proceeding with the suit London gossip anticipated that she had a sensational story to tell and interest in the suit rose accordingly.

The damages paid today are the heaviest for many years in a breach of promise suit.

As soon as the preliminaries had been completed Sir Edward Carson informed the court that a settlement had been reached after consultation between counsel.

The Marquis' counsel explained that Miss Markham met the Marquis last year when the promise of marriage to her was not denied. Subsequently at the desire of his father the Marquis broke off the engagement. In doing so he wrote Miss Markham that he wanted her to believe his action had been taken from a sense of duty, genuinely believing it best for both parties.

"When his father talked to him, the Marquis wrote, 'he faced me with the same thoughts I told you of when I first loved you, which I have ever since been trying to suppress.'"

The Marquis further wrote: "You do not know how these social ladies will treat you and I really could not bear to see you suffering it. Oh! it could not escape from my position! You will always be my ideal! Beautiful dream." The letter concluded: "Your broken-hearted Bill."

This was the Marquis of Northampton's nickname.

Counsel continued that the Marquis of Northampton had made provision for the lady such as she would have been entitled to had he made her a Marchioness. He then announced the settlement for the sum of $250,000.

Henry E. Duke, counsel for the defendant, said in confirming the settlement, that when the Marquis of Northampton, who was then Earl Compton, asked his father's consent to his marriage with Miss Markham, he laid upon him an absolute prohibition and took from his son a solemn engagement that he would not pursue his desire to marry the plaintiff.

OFFERS TO GIVE HIS LEFT LEG FOR SUFFERERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Buffalo, N. Y., July 2.—In a letter to Mayor Louis F. Fuhrmann, Charles F. Gohner of Wheeling, W. Va., a cripple, offers to part with his left leg to aid the victims of the Husted elevator fire, upon whose bodies large quantities of skin must soon be grafted. Gohner, in his letter, says: "My left limb has been of no service to me since I was crushed years ago, though the skin, according to a specialist is in perfectly healthy condition. I would gladly give it to the Husted mill sufferers with the understanding that the expense of the operation be born by those engaged in the relief rescue work." Accompanying the letter is an affidavit from the editor of a Wheeling newspaper that the offer is bona fide. Mayor Fuhrmann turned the letter over to the hospital authorities.

INTEREST RECEIVED BY STATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, O., July 2.—From January 9, 1909, when D. S. Creamer became state treasurer, up to July 1, 1913, the state had received an interest on deposits of state funds under the state depository law the total sum of $751,355. Practically all of this was received on deposits made under the competitive bidding system which was established first by Mr. Creamer voluntarily and later in accordance with a law.

Since the loans have been made by competitive bidding proceeds from the deposits have been largely increased and the state has not lost a dollar of such deposits. Many of the banks opposed the competitive bidding system claiming that it would result in the acceptance of bids of unreliable banks with resultant losses to the state. The sum of earnings, state officials point out, is enough to buy for the state an office building in which to house departments now quartered outside of the state house.

TO PROBE MULHALL CHARGES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 2.—Representatives Novey and Sherley both introduced resolutions today for an investigation by the house committee of five into the charges of Martin M. Mulhall concerning his relations with congressmen in his work as "chief lobbyist" for the National Association of Manufacturers. Ten thousand dollars may be appropriated for expenses.

When the house convened again an outbreak of pleas "not guilty" to the Mulhall charges began. Representative Sherley declared that if the Mulhall charges meant that he had been influenced in any way it was "a malicious, wanton, deliberate lie."

Chairman Henry of the rule committee said that he would object to the present consideration of the Sherley resolution.

"This is a grave, serious matter," he said, "and the house should proceed with due deliberation. A resolution covering completely this broadside charge should be framed."

Republican Leader Mann, in a spirited speech said it was imperative that the house proceed at once to defend itself.

"I am in favor of going beyond the Mulhall charges," he said, "while we are going into the National Association of Manufacturers, let's investigate the other side the labor end. Let's find out about the temperance organizations and the labor unions."

The house unanimously referred the demand for an investigation to the rules committee with the understanding that the committee will report a resolution Saturday, authorizing a broad investigation.

Many a man gives the devil his due when he isn't so considerate of his neighbors.

VETERANS LEAVING REUNION

Thousands Depart for Home Unable to Stand the Camp Discomforts

GETTYSBURG CROWDED

Beyond Capacity and Hard Problem to Care for the Old War Heroes—Governor Cox the Hero of the Ohio Veterans.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Gettysburg, July 2.—The tide of invasion turned back from Gettysburg today and the armies of the Blue and Gray began to melt away under the compelling influence of a torrid sun and the discomforts of camp life.

General Liggett, U. S. A., in command of the camp, estimated that more than 6,000 veterans have gone, and expressed the opinion that 1,000 would depart before midnight.

Most of them had looked over the battlefield, shaken hands with comrades they knew in other regiments, got another glimpse of their friends, the "rebs" and left for home.

The regular army men were not sorry to see the thousands go, for the camp was crowded beyond capacity, and hundreds of old men were being quartered in tents that were made for dunces but not for sleeping purposes. Scores slept on the ground, and although the cooks made strenuous efforts, the mess tent did groan.

The veterans have stood the heat wonderfully in the opinion of the medical men, but any time there is a protracted spell, scores of real proscriptions may result.

This was "Military day" in the big tent with Colonel Andrew Cowan of Louisville presiding.

Major General John R. Brooke of Pennsylvania was the northern orator of the day, and Sergeant John C. Scarborough of North Carolina the silver-tongued defender of the south.

To Barry Buckley of Washington, D. C., was given the honor of reading Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

One of the unadvertised reunions of the celebration occurred last night in Confederate section of the camp. A life and drum corps in blue tramped up and down the streets of the Confederate part of the city of tents.

They stopped before the tents, played such a fanfare as only drums and fifes can make, summoned forth the occupants and shook hands, threw their arms about the gray shoulders and in a dozen other ways showed their feelings of friendship. They kept it up for hours and visited practically every "reb" tent. Their reception was as warm as their greeting.

The Pennsylvania hospital state camp has treated fewer men than the army has and the total of those in camp and in Gettysburg who gave up to the heat and ordinary sickness was under five hundred.

Only six men have died in camp since Sunday a record which has amazed the doctors, when it is considered that more than 50,000 old men are here.

Landes L. Glavis, 68 years old, of West Moor, Pennsylvania, a member of Cunningham Post No. 97, G. A. R., dropped dead on the streets in Gettysburg today.

Innumerable stories are being told.

BEACHED THE BATTLESHIP LOUISIANA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Newport, R. I., July 2.—The battleship Louisiana, commanded by Captain Templin M. Potts, was beached on the east side of Connecticut Island in Narragansett Bay this afternoon. An accident to the injection valve caused the engine room to fill with water and the battleship was run on to the beach to keep her from sinking.

Relief by Cooling Showers

Recurring humidity Tuesday night following the rains, put unrest in those who had found relief in the cooling showers of Tuesday afternoon, and while temperature of the early day Wednesday, was quite high and the humidity was particularly noticeable yet the direct heat of the sun was not so oppressive nor the temperature so high as Monday by several degrees.

With the sky slightly cloudy Wednesday, a bit more relief was offered heat sufferers. This, with predictions of the weather forecasters at Washington that cooler areas are bound in this direction, proves encouraging to thousands in Newark and far greater numbers in the larger cities of the middle west and east. The extreme high temperature area is now making its way over the New England states, and is being followed by cooling rains from the west.

The temperature Wednesday showed a very gradual increase from 72 at 6 a. m. up to 86 at 2 p. m., which marked the highest temperature of the day. There was practically no air stirring during Tuesday night and the relief that came was due only to the rainfall in Newark and electrical storms to the south and southwest.

An Associated Press dispatch to the Advocate quotes Prof. H. P. Frankenhoff, chief forecaster of the government weather bureau in Washington as predicting rains almost generally throughout the eastern half of the country for Wednesday night or Thursday.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, July 2.—(General relief from the hot wave east of the Rocky mountains proved to be in sight. The weather bureau here reports temperatures not as high in the middle west, as during the last several days. The hot wave has traveled eastward and today forced temperatures higher in the Atlantic states. The hottest section on the map was around New York and in New England. Cooler weather east, however, is expected tonight or tomorrow.

"To humidity," said Prof. H. P. Frankenhoff, chief forecaster of the weather bureau, "is due all the suffering throughout the country. Tonight or tomorrow there will be rains, almost generally throughout the eastern half of the country and that will help a lot."

The Pacific slope is not in danger of a heat wave the weather bureau says. Temperatures are somewhat higher west of the Rocky mountains however.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 2.—President Wilson today sent to the senate the nomination of Charles W. Lapp of Cleveland, as United States marshal for the Northern district of Ohio.

Mr. Lapp served several terms as vice mayor of Cleveland under the late Tom L. Johnson. He was endorsed by Senator Pomerene.

Noon Edition July 4

Heretofore the Advocate has suspended publication on July 4th. In fact, up to recent years, it was the custom to suspend publication on practically every holiday but Newark has outgrown the "small town" class and it is a well known fact that a city newspaper never misses publication except from necessity.

While it is true that many people will be out of town on Friday, nearly all of them will return home Friday evening and many thousands will not go away from the city that day. Besides, numerous visitors will be here on July 4. The people want to read Friday's news on Friday, not Saturday evening, and in order to be abreast of the times and to give the Advocate subscribers what they pay for, a six day a week newspaper, the Advocate will appear as usual on Friday, July 4, though the paper will be published three hours ahead of the regular time.

Advertisers who want to bring their Saturday offerings to the attention of Licking county people are requested to have their copy sent to this office Thursday evening or earlier if possible.

Friends of the Advocate desiring to use the news or advertising columns on Friday will kindly note the fact that Friday's paper will be a noon edition.

The Advocate is the only Licking county member of the Associated Press, the world's greatest news gathering association which has a telegraph line in constant operation during the day in this office.

Orders to Seize and Operate Ice Plants In City of Cincinnati

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cincinnati, O., July 2.—Following a communication from Mayor Henry T. Hunt, declaring that a public emergency exists, the Board of Health at noon today ordered health officers of Cincinnati to seize and operate all ice plants in this city and to use every available means of distributing ice to the general public.

This action was brought about by the manufacturers who refused to arbitrate their differences with the striking drivers helpers and engineers of the ice plants.

The drastic action was brought on by a statement of the medical profession here earlier in the day, that unless ice in bountiful quantities was obtained in a short period of time the death rate would be increased one hundred per cent.

Health officer Landes announced that he would begin work immediately by seizing all ice of a quantity of more than 500 pounds and that he hoped that within an hour or two to have several plants in operation. He likewise stated that he would ask the union drivers and helpers to go to work for him and distribute the ice.

TARIFF BILL IS READY FOR THE SENATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 2.—Senate Democrats are to be bound by their caucus to the tariff bill as finally approved, probably tomorrow. Administration leaders predict that all, with the exception of Senators Randall and Thornton of Louisiana, will accept the pledge binding them to vote for the bill as reported, to confine themselves to the amendments the caucus has passed upon and probably including a provision not to vote for amendments introduced by Republicans. The caucus resumed work today on odds and ends.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska defeated in his effort to attach to the tariff bill an amendment for a gradual tax on tobacco production, withdrawing today from the Democratic senate caucus. The caucus voted down his amendment by a vote of 23 to 18 and a spirited scene followed.

Senator Hitchcock declared that he did not intend to "kick over the party traces," but would insist upon reintroducing his tobacco tax amendment and lead a fight for it on the floor of the senate. He added he would participate no further in the caucus deliberations.

"I do not intend to bolt the party or oppose the tariff bill, but I will make an earnest effort to get my amendment into the law," he said to members.

The debate on the amendment in caucus lasted several hours and it was a stormy session. "We have had a battle royal," said Senator Simmons when it was over.

LOBBY PROBERS AMAZED

Wall Street Operator Relates Sensational Facts to the Committee

CHARGES BIG FORGERY

Amounting to $82,000,000 Was Committed on Books of the Union Pacific—How Financiers Gained Control of Roads.

Washington, July 2.—David Lamar, Wall street operator and one time confidant of Russell Sage, James R. Keene and other financiers, amazed the senate lobby committee today by smilingly and frankly testifying that it was he who impersonated Representative Palmer and Riordan in telephone conversations with Lewis Cass Ledyard, Paul D. Cravath, Chairman Robert S. Lovett, of the Union Pacific board, and other prominent financiers, telling them that Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer could do great things for them in Washington.

Lamar also astonished the committee by making a detailed charge that the Union Pacific railroad had been forged in 1901 on an item covering $82,000,000 and that as one result Kuhn, Loeb and Company and the late E. H. Harriman had laid the foundations of gigantic fortunes. When Lamar had finished Paul D. Cravath of counsel for the Union Pacific put in a prepared statement to the committee alleging that Lamar's charge concerning the $82,000,000—which amount is connected with the Union Pacific surplus—was part of a bear campaign to discredit Union Pacific.

He did it all he said, to impress the financiers with the abilities of his friend Edward Lauterbach, but he stoutly denied there was ever any mention that Lauterbach should profit by legal fees.

In 1897 Lamar said Russell Sage authorized him to proceed to compel the Union Pacific to pay the government $58,000,000 in bonds owing it. Lamar, with Senator Foraker, came to Washington and conferred with President McKinley.

"We were charged with being a pair of blackmailers," said Lamar, "but that had no effect on us."

When Sage retired from business in 1901 on Sage's recommendation, he became associated with James R. Keene. Lamar said he warned Keene, when the latter was buying Union Pacific stock, that the railroad would ruin him. He detailed how, when Keene and his associates had $43,000,000 Union Pacific he took steps to enjoin the voting of certain stock so that E. H. Harriman would be compelled to buy Keene's stock at a high figure. With Keene's approval he retained Lauterbach's law firm and paid $25,000. Lauterbach and Lamar came to Washington, paid Foraker a fee and engaged him.

When the injunction was finally decided against Keene, Union Pacific stock went down and Keene and his friends lost most of their fortunes. "The Lauterbach incident," he added, "paled into insignificance compared with a $82,000,000 forgery which he alleged was committed on the Union Pacific's books in 1901."

"I don't know who did it," said Lamar, "the chairman of the board or the office boy, but I do know this $82,000,000 enabled Harriman and Kuhn, Loeb and Company to gain control of these great corporations." He described "a double entry" of $2,000,000 representing securities the Union Pacific assumed in taking over the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation. The items, he said, were carried in the consolidated balance sheets of the Union Pacifics June 30, 1900, but between that time and June 30, 1901, he alleged, some one had erased the $2,000,000 item from one side of the ledger leaving it as a credit balance on the other side.

"They took all the securities of the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation," he said, "and used them as securities on an issue of bonds. They got that money and used it to finance the deal for the Northern Pacific and Great

Harmony

(By Chalmers L. Pancoast.)

Harmony is certainly essential to municipal progress, and this can best be instituted by means of a well-organized Board of Trade. This organization should not be limited to its membership to bankers, merchants and professional men, but should include every person who is interested in the welfare of the community. The capitalist and the laborer should meet as equals on this common ground for they are both vitally interested in those things which look to the improvement of conditions in the town in which they live.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally se "ed in my kidneys and bladder. I doctoried with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise for your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly,

AILING FROM COMPLICATION OF TROUBLES SICK MAN WOULD BECOME EXHAUSTED AT LEAST EXERTION.

UNITED DOCTORS CURE HIM.

Patient is Greatly Surprised at What He Calls His Wonderful and Rapid Improvement.

With his system completely debilitated from years of sickness from a complication of ailments, Mr. W. D. Sherman, of Route No. 7, Buffalo Road, Erie, Pa., was in bad shape upon applying to the United Doctors, who have their Newark institute on the second floor of the Arcade building, for treatment.

For years Mr. Sherman had been bothered with a complication of diseases which in the past twelve months especially had caused him much suffering and misery. He would become completely exhausted upon the slightest exertion and would get severe pains about the heart. He had a cough which kept him awake nights and was at all times very short of breath. Added to this was poor appetite, constipation and rheumatism.

Part of Mr. Sherman's statement is as follows:

"No treatment previously seemed to reach the cause of my condition. On June 3rd I went to the United Doctors Erie Institute and commenced treatment. In three weeks my cough improved wonderfully, I lost weight at night and my work is no longer a burden as formerly. To better illustrate the wonderful and rapid improvement in my case I will say that when I started the United Doctors treatment it was almost impossible for me to get to the city to consult them. Recently I walked the entire distance without even resting once and was not troubled with any shortness of breath. My wife has spoken of the great improvement in my condition and it is due entirely to the United Doctors and I wish all ailing people to know about it."

The United Doctors treat among other ailments, chronic and deep-seated diseases of the nerves, blood, heart, liver, kidneys, bladder, spine, brain, including rheumatism, paralysis, epilepsy, dropsy, asthma, goitre, gall stones, rupture, dyspepsia, weak lungs, catarrh, deafness, neuralgia, loss of nerve force, indigestion, eczema, scrofula and diseases of women and diseases of men. adv.

BALL GAME AT THE PARK ON THE 4TH

If for no other reason than Newark has been without professional baseball this season, there should be an enormous crowd witness the two games at Wehrle Park on the Fourth of July. Arrangements have been completed for the appearance here of the Columbus Cubs and the Zanesville team of the Interstate league in two games. The first will be called at 10 o'clock Friday morning and the afternoon game will be called at 2:15.

There has been a warm contest between these two teams and much interest is manifested in the outcome of the Friday contest. Undoubtedly there will be a number of fans from Zanesville and Columbus accompany the teams here.

ASSESSMENT COLLECTION IS ENJOINED

Reapportionment Will Be Made in Hartford and Croton Ditch—
Court House News.

In common pleas court, in the case of Henry M. Ross et al vs James W. Rutledge et al, the preliminary order of injunction heretofore granted was made perpetual. The county surveyor was ordered and directed to make a re-apportionment of the assessments in accordance with the prayer of the petition.

The suit was brought to secure an injunction to enjoin the collection of assessments made for the construction of a ditch and asking for a re-apportionment of the assessments. The ditch is located in Hartford and Croton townships.

In the matter of the assignment of Jasper Jones, the matter was argued and submitted to the court on exceptions to the account filed in the Probate court.

To Quiet Title.
Suit to quiet title was filed in the Common Pleas court Wednesday by Johanna Fitzgerald vs. Ellen McKeligan, and involving a lot in Evans' addition. F. A. Bolton is plaintiff's attorney.

Case Dismissed.
A wrangle ensued between Attorneys James Fitzgibbons and B. G. Smythe in Common Pleas court Wednesday during the hearing of the suit brought by Dr. Haynes and other residents of the village of Croton, against village officials, to stop the issue of bonds to pay for street improvements. The suit was based on contention that the work was poorly done.

In course of proceedings the question arose as to the filing of the injunction petition by Attorney B. G. Smythe. The attorney took the witness stand, but when asked to produce the petition, he refused to do so. There arose a doubt as to whether the petition was actually filed, and the outcome of the affair was dismissal of the case by Judge Fulton.

Mayor Demas Hoover Village Clerk Burns Hempstead, Charles Eddeblute, W. H. Sanford, George Davidson and Mr. Humphrey were among the Croton people here as interested witnesses in the case.

Common Pleas Court.
In the matter of the nuncupate will of Joseph E. Wilson, appealed from the decision of the probate court, the appeal was dismissed. The probate court refused to probate the will. On Wednesday an entry was made in common pleas court that the case has been settled and dismissed.

Frank Bader, of Granville street, received his new model Cadillac touring car Wednesday. The new car is the very latest design being put out on the market by the Detroit concern and is attracting much attention from automobile enthusiasts.

CAR FOR MINE

RESCUE WORK

Ever since the national bureau of mines and mining was created there has been a continual agitation on the part of the Ohio mine workers and the mining department for a law that would carry with it a sufficient appropriation to equip and maintain a car for rescue and training work.

The recent explosions in two or three mines in our state has demonstrated beyond any reasonable doubt the absolute necessity for making provisions of this kind. The equipment for rescue work now available is anything but complete and is stored away in a damp small room in the basement of the capital building.

When the explosion occurred a short time ago at the Amsterdam mine in Jefferson county and a call for relief was sent to the chief inspector of mines, they had to depend on an express wagon to take the equipment to the railroad train, which took considerable time.

At the last session of the General assembly there was passed Senate bill 69, which provides for the purchase of an up-to-date mine rescue car to be equipped with all the modern appliances for rescue work.

This car with its full equipment will be stationed in Columbus and will be in direct charge of the chief of mines. The mining department will then be prepared at all times to lend assistance wherever needed. The law is considered by miners and operators to be one of the best on the statute books of the state.

STIFFENING WOOL PRICES.

In regard to the stiffening of wool prices, the following from the American Wool and Cotton Reporter is of special interest. The paper says: "Wool is 100 per cent higher abroad now than it was in 1915, and our markets are within 5 per cent of the foreign and in some cases fully as low as they are abroad." It discovers little of the panic among manufacturers that was predicted "Among manufacturers the optimists are becoming more popular than the calamity howlers, and, with the currency legislation satisfactorily adjusted, our prediction of something like an October boom throughout the textile trade is beginning to attract a serious following."

Ducks kept entirely on land must have deep drinking vessels, so they can get their heads under water.

LOBBY PROBERS

Northern transactions, and the flotation of Great Northern Oregon properties which they sold out at an enormous profit.

Later Lamar alleged the principles in the transaction went to Kuhn, Loeb and Company and secretly got nearly $200,000,000 which he believed was their own. Lamar testified he used the name of Representative Daniel J. Rioridan, of New York, telephoning to Chairman Lovett, of the Union Pacific.

On another occasion Lamar testified he called up Paul D. Cravath, of counsel for the Union Pacific, suggesting Lauterbach would be a valuable advisor.

On another occasion he talked over the phone to Lewis Cass Ledyard, mentioning Representative Palmer's name and with Maxwell Everts using Representative Rioridan's name. In both conversations he spoke about Lauterbach's services.

Senator Nelson insisted that Lamar testify explicitly whether he stated in those conversations that Lauterbach had influence in Washington with officials, senators or representatives.

"I am inclined to believe in my conversation with Mr. Ledyard, I went that direction on the affirmative side," returned Lamar.

"Why did you change to Palmer's name instead of sticking to Rioridan's?" demanded Senator Nelson.
"Well, Mr. Palmer was very much in the public eye then, as one who would have great influence at Washington with the incoming Democratic administration," replied Lamar. He said that he did not know Palmer and had no authority to use his name.

Lamar said the late J. P. Morgan's opposition to Lauterbach caused him to telephone Ledyard, using the name of Representative Palmer, to try and win his confidence and find out who had ostracized Lauterbach.

"I found out it was Ledyard, himself," said Lamar. He added he knew Ledyard had a stenographer on the line making a record of the talk.

"I read everything into it I could," said Lamar.

"I think I offered him the entire government, but I may have left the president out."

Lamar got the committee into laughter with his story of how he impersonated Palmer.

"I told that the defiant attitude of the Morgan firm toward the Democratic administration in congress had much to do with the decline in the value of Morgan securities," the witness continued.

"I called attention to the money trust, and other investigations, and urged Mr. Ledyard to employ Mr. Lauterbach."

"You were trying to convince Ledyard that Lauterbach was a sort of 'John the Baptist' for the Morgan firm," suggested Senator Nelson.

"That's it exactly," returned Lamar.

"Then I called up Mr. Palmer's office in Washington," said Lamar, with a smile, "and found he would be in Bethlehem, Pa. the next Sunday. Then I called Mr. Ledyard and told him to call Palmer there. I had done all I wanted to get an interview for Lauterbach with Ledyard and I did not want Mr. Palmer injured. I wanted to clear the atmosphere and prevent a possible scandal for Palmer."

The deception was revealed to Palmer and Ledyard that Sunday. Senator Overman insisted in knowing if Lamar ever impersonated any other congressman.

"Oh, I may have," ejaculated Lamar.

Lewis Cass Ledyard testified that for two years previous to Lamar's telephone conversations with him he had knowledge of attempts to induce members of the Morgan firm to employ some one to "control affairs" at Washington. He connected Mr. Lauterbach and Mr. Lamar with them.

Ledyard's reports of the conversations disclosed Lamar speaking as Representative Palmer, saying that the defiant attitude of Mr. Morgan toward the government had resulted in the Stanley Steel Trust inquiry and that Speaker Clark suggested "Mr. Palmer" call up Mr. Ledyard.

"Did you know a first, that it was Lamar talking?" asked Senator Overman.

"I knew it was some blackmailer, and finally concluded it was Lamar," replied Ledyard.

Later he summoned Lauterbach who told him, he said, that Lamar had a resolution he proposed to have introduced in the house of representatives for a steel trust inquiry.

Lauterbach told him he had seen members of the Morgan firm, who refused to talk about the investigation resolution.

As Ledyard read his statement about Lamar drawing up the steel resolution he turned to Lamar and asked if that was correct. Lamar nodded his assent.

The Human Procession

William Lequeux, the English novelist, who has a large following in this country as well as in Europe, will begin his fiftieth year today, having been born in London on the second of July, 1868. His latest novel deals with his experiences in the Balkan war, and the scenes are laid in Serbia and Albania. Mr. Lequeux travelled extensively in those countries, Macedonia, Turkey, Montenegro and Bulgaria, before the war, as well as acting as correspondent during the recent struggle of the Balkan States with Turkey, and is thoroughly familiar with the subject of which he writes. He is a commander of the orders of St. Sava and Danilo of Montenegro. For some time he lived in the little republic of San Marino, a mere speck on the map of Europe, and was made a consul of the republic and a number of the San Marino Order.

Mr. Lequeux was educated in England and Italy, and afterward studied art in Paris. He took the Latin quarter and his artistic ambitions to make a pedestrian tour through France and Germany. His accounts of his experiences on these trips won him a place as correspondent, and later as sub-editor, on the London Globe. While still actively engaged in journalism he published his first novel, "Guilty Bonds." This was in 1890, and the book was sufficiently successful to encourage him to write another, "Strange Tales of a Nihilist." Twenty years ago he abandoned newspaper work to devote his entire attention to novel writing, and since then has published an average of a book a year.

Mr. Lequeux has an intimate knowledge of the secret service of all the European powers, and many of his novels are based on this insight into affairs that are a closed book to ordinary mortals. The novelist is an inveterate traveller, and has spent years in wandering through Algeria, Morocco, the Sahara, Asia and the Balkan States.

"Spare the rod and spoil the child," is an old proverb that meets with the approval of Prof. Frank Morton McMurtry, one of the foremost American authorities on pedagogies. The professor of elementary education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, is a Hoosier by birth, having been born near Crawfordsville, Ind., fifty-one years ago today. Prof. McMurtry advocates the restoration of corporal punishment in schools, but recommends certain restrictions, such as that the child be examined by a physician before the "licking" is applied, and that the written consent of the parents to the punishment be secured, when possible. He declares that there are many disobedient and disorderly children, who have little regard for the rights of others and little fear beyond that of bodily hurt, who can be taught respect for authority only by a proper application of the rod. Of course, whipping hurts the whipper more than the whipped, but Prof. McMurtry believes that school principals should not only be permitted, but commanded, to administer floggings for the good of the child when other corrective measures have failed.

Crown Prince Olaf, who may some day succeed his father, Haakon VII, as king of Norway, will celebrate his twentieth birthday today. Queen Maud, the mother of the little Prince, is a sister of King George V, and it is said that she has determined that her son shall be educated in an English university.

British Ministers to Be Forced from Politics by Marconi Scandal

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, SIR RUFUS ISAACS.

Rumor has it that David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir Rufus Isaacs, attorney general, of Great Britain, are to be forced from politics by the Marconi company stock scandal. Both have admitted they bought stock in the American Marconi company shortly before action of the British government, which resulted in an advance in the price of the stock, was taken. For many years the Unionists and their sympathizers have been after Lloyd George because of his radical theories and action. He had made himself the most prominent man in British politics, and was bitterly opposed by Tories.

The Tact Market.

Chancellor James R. Day was once advising a young undergraduate of Syracuse university to cultivate tact. "But, alas," he said, "I fear that advice on such a subject must always be wasted. On tact the last word was spoken by Barbery d'Anversville when he said: 'If tact could be bought only those already possessed of it would want to buy it.'"

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Thoughtless Jimmy
And the Little Memory Elf.

JACK had lost his ball, and the next day the little boys who belonged to his team were going to play a game. They needed the ball; but, alas, Jack could not find it.

"Wish I had a fairy around to do my remembering for me," Jack grumbled as he and Evelyn came up for their bedtime story.

"Do you, sir?" daddy answered. "Well, I'm very glad you haven't. I can tell you a story about a little chap who had just such a fairy.

"He was one of those boys who are always forgetting. When one day he went to school without his books he was punished for forgetting them, and he wished, just as you are doing, that he could have some one to do his remembering for him.

"He made the wish out loud as he was coming home from school. Somebody snickered just behind him, and, turning round, he saw a tiny little elf.

"I'll do your remembering for you, Master Jimmie," the elf offered.

"Say, I just wish you would," Jimmie urged eagerly.

"The elf told Jimmie that it would have to go around with him everywhere and that, though he might be able to see it, no one else could.

"Jimmie thought this a very fine way to do, for his parents had what he thought an unpleasant way of insisting that he should do his own work.

"There are several things that you have forgotten now," the elf suggested, and, quick as wink, Jimmie recalled the errands his mother had asked him to do for her.

"Well, I'm nearly home anyway. I don't want to go back," Jimmie said. "The elf grew a little taller every time Jimmie shirked doing some task. By and by the elf was as tall as Jimmie, and in a short time he had shot up until he was as tall as a man. And the funny part of it was Jimmie could scarcely remember anything if he tried he was so used to allowing the elf to do his remembering.

"When the elf got as tall as a tree Jimmie began to be afraid to have such a giant around. He was a good deal in the way.

"There's only one way to get rid of me," the overgrown elf chuckled, "and that is to do your own remembering without my help."

"I'll do it," Jimmie declared.

"At first it was dreadfully hard work, but as he saw the elf shrink each time he succeeded he tried harder and harder. At last the elf was almost his natural size. One day when he went out to walk Jimmie lost him. He has never seen him since. And now when Jimmie is asked to do anything or has any little duty on hand he can remember splendidly. He is afraid the elf may come back and grow again to be a giant."

JEWELRY CLERK CAPTURED TODAY IN NEW JERSEY

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 2.—William Beck, a clerk who was employed by the Fifth avenue jewelry firm of Udall & Ballou, and who fled shortly after the firm was robbed last week of $98,000 worth of gems was captured today in New Jersey, and brought back to New York. He is said to have made a confession of his knowledge of the robbery. His arrest followed the recovery today of the stolen gems in a valise at the Pennsylvania railway station.

The valise contained a card bearing the name of Beck's father, Frank E. Beck, who committed suicide several years ago. It was checked at the Pennsylvania station according to the police about two hours after the Udall & Ballou store had closed on the day of the robbery. When found it contained all of the gems, including a pear-shaped blue diamond of more than 43 karats, valued at $30,000.

Beck has been missing since he jumped from a window at police headquarters on Monday while being questioned as to his knowledge of the robbery. He was traced, through relatives, who thought that it would be best for him to disclose the young man's whereabouts.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 2.—More than $98,000 worth of jewelry stolen from the Fifth avenue firm of Udall & Ballou was found today in the Pennsylvania station in a valise.

The jewels, among them a blue diamond of great value were stolen some time last Friday night during the excitement caused by a fire in the establishment. No arrests were made but William Beck, a young repair clerk in the store when taken to police headquarters for questioning jumped from a window and fled. He had not been found this morning. The firm appraised its loss at about $98,000.

Detectives found the satchel last night and waited until this morning hoping to arrest whomever came to claim it. When no one put in appearance they took the find to police headquarters. There 345 pieces of jewelry was in the lot.

ICE STRIKE

May be Settled Today at Cincinnati as It Is Thought Manufacturers Will Sign Arbitration Plan.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cincinnati, O., July 2.—Whether the ice manufacturers would sign the arbitration plan as proposed at a meeting in city hall late yesterday and thereby end the strike of drivers, helpers, engineers and firemen was to be decided today at a meeting of the employers.

Representatives of the dealers and manufacturers had agreed orally to the arbitration plan, but when the union officials insisted that the peace part should be signed they declared they did not have the authority to do so, and that it would have to be submitted to the various boards of directors. To this end the dealers held a secret meeting which continued until after midnight. After the conference it was declared no action had been taken and that the question would be further discussed today.

ASSISTING THE MUSKINGUM VALLEY FLOOD SUFFERERS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, O., July 2.—The Red Cross today sent $10,000 to be distributed among the farmers of Montgomery county who lost heavily by the March floods. The contribution is in addition to that recently made for the relief of farmers in the vicinity of Miami.

The Red Cross has decided to rebuild a number of houses for families that were made homeless by the floods at Beverly on the lower Muskingum and an agent is there now engaged in rebuilding twenty-two such houses.

The houses will, of course, be small, with three rooms each, and will be of frame construction.

NEW CANNING FACTORY OPENED AT SUMMIT STA.

Summit Station, July 2.—Licking county at last is on the map as having one of the leading canning industries of the state. The Sears Canning company has opened its new plant at Summit Station, which employs about 50 hands and is at the present engaged in the canning of peas which are yielding the farmers a good income, averaging about two and one-half tons to the acre and selling for $20 a ton.

Practically no more labor is required to raise the peas than is required to raise oats or any other grain, as they are planted in about the same way as the grain and harvested with a mowing machine to which is attached a gatherer which carries them to the canning factory where they are thrown into a huller and thrashed similar to the thrashing of wheat. A wagon is placed at an opening where the empty pods belch out after having been separated from the peas proper into the wagon which carts them away to the silos where they are dried and stored for the cattle on account of their immense productivity and value as a milk producer. The protein qualities of the peas are its principal asset and when it comes to the producing of the milk and all the latest authorities endorse this as the best food for the milk giving animals.

In the building the peas are sorted by hand labor and prepared for canning. Natural gas is used in the cooking process and the plant is lighted by electricity and has all the up-to-date equipment that can be installed in a canning factory. Later the company means to include the canning of other produce and is at present considering immediate steps in that direction.

The Sears company is at present operating four large canning factories and the company has made an excellent start in this locality and the farmers are very much pleased as it has presented them with a market for their pea crop and has served as a stimulus to the industry and also has awakened the adjacent districts to the possibilities afforded by selling the produce direct to the canner.

She Had Consumption, Was Dying; Now Well

Eckman's Alternative is being used with such results in the treatment of Tuberculosis in all parts of the country. Persons who have taken it, improved, gained weight, excreted the phlegm, coughed less, lost the emaciated, and many recovered. If you are interested to know more about it, we will put you in touch with some who are now well. You can get the name of the doctor who cured them. Read of Mrs. Gove's recovery.

Gentlemen: Thinking of the remarkable recovery of my mother-in-law (Mrs. Anna Gove) I thought I would like to tell you of it. I have the following testimonial: About September 10, 1908, she was taken sick with Catarrhal Pneumonia, and continued to grow worse, until a trained nurse, who had been attending her, advised that she would not live much longer. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's Church, at Newark, Ind., preached, he recommended that I get Eckman's Alternative, and see if it would not give her some relief. I then requested the attending physician to give her the diagnosis and he informed me that she had Consumption and was beyond all medical aid. When I asked if he thought that she would live, he said, "No, I don't." I then bought a bottle of Eckman's Alternative, and gave her the first dose. He replied that "No physician could help her any and I could suit myself about it." So I immediately had Rev. Wm. Berg to send for a bottle. Practically without hope for recovery, I indicated that she try the Alternative, which she did. I am glad to say that she soon got to improve. Now, she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took Eckman's Alternative. She is in good health, and she owes her life and health to Eckman's Alternative.

SAMMY TROTT

Victim of His Father's Penknife in a Quarrel at the Home of the Columbus Fighter.

Columbus, O., July 2.—It became known yesterday that as a result of his effort to prevent his father from injuring other members of the family, Samuel Trott, Columbus light-weight fighter, was badly wounded late Monday night when his father drew a knife and stabbed him in the chest.

He is now under the care of Dr. M. T. Dixon at the home of relatives in South Grant avenue, but expects to be able to fill an engagement with a Canadian lightweight July 16.

The trouble occurred in the Trott home, 577 Cedar Alley, when Peter Trott returned home. He is alleged to have abused his wife and son, at the same time making remarks which aroused his son's ire.

The latter tried to lead his father to his bedroom, but he broke away from his grasp, reached for his pocket knife and slashed at the son's breast, according to relatives.

The knife cut a gash about three inches long and nearly two inches deep before it struck a rib and was halted. The shock of seeing the effect of his attack somewhat sobered Trott, sr., and he called a physician. The prize fighter suffered greatly from loss of blood.

Members of the Trott family yesterday said they had no desire to bring criminal charges against Peter Trott.

CELEBRATION OF FOURTH OF JULY

The municipalities of Ohio, taken as a whole, are probably as well protected against the dangers of an unwise celebration of the Fourth of July, as those of any other state.

Cleveland was the first of our largest cities to provide itself with an effective ordinance. So beneficent were the results achieved in the first year of its operation that the lead thus taken was speedily followed by the majority of our municipalities. Impetus was further given to the movement by the State Fire Marshal in the year 1910, when he urged upon all our cities and villages the adoption of protective ordinances.

Nearly all or possibly all, the towns had ordinances prohibiting the use of certain dangerous fireworks and noise producing devices, but long experience had proven the impossibility of properly enforcing them with the forces at hand. The problem was finally solved by the passage of ordinances prohibiting the sale of the dangerous devices. The results have fully justified the action thus taken in every community which tried it.

Cooking Accounts.

The word cook, used in the sense of "cook up accounts," is generally put in quotation marks, but the phrase has been almost long enough in use to give it undisputed standing. Smollett wrote of "cooking accounts" in 1751, and proofs were "cooked" a century earlier. But somehow "cook" remains what the dictionaries snuff at as "colloquial" in this sense, while "concoct," which means to cook or boil together, but the status of a fully accepted word. The Romans used "concoquo" and the simple "coquo" alike in the metaphorical sense of pondering and devising, but the obvious metaphor of "cooking" accounts never occurred to them.

AMUSEMENTS

The American Play Co. has signed a contract with Margaret Illington whereby she will be starred for two years in "Within the Law" which will open its Western tour in Chicago in August. Miss Illington has starred in "Kindling" for over two years with great success, and plans were being arranged for another tour. Mr. Arch Selwyn acting for the American Play Co. has been negotiating with Miss Illington for some time to have her appear as "Mary Turner." It is said she will receive a record salary and will be starred in the play.

When Bayard Voiller's phenomenally successful human interest drama "Within the Law" rounds out a year's run at the Eltinge theater, it will be the only drama to have remained the entire season in New York City. The hot weather has no effect on the business and Bayard Voiller's stirring play promises to establish a record for long runs.

Great Stadium Built by the Germans at Grunewald for the Next Olympic Championship Games

No. 1—Swimming Tank. 2—The Royal Box. 3—Cement Track. 4—Judges' Stand. 5—Statue of Victory

When the German Kaiser reviewed his athletic sons and daughters on the afternoon of Sunday, June 3, he officially opened one of the greatest temples dedicated to sport in the world's history. The German Olympic stadium, situated in the beautiful suburb of Grunewald, on the western side of the great city of Berlin, is a sight to be the stage of the greatest athletic meet that has ever been fought out between the nations. It was built long in advance of the Berlin Olympiad of 1916 for several seasons, the main one being to provide the people of the fatherland so that Germany will try her mightiest to excel other nations in the feats of strength, speed and endurance three years hence. The Berlin stadium, unlike any other in existence, is built into an excavation, so that the greater part of the entire structure is below the surface level of the ground. It is built of concrete and contains accommodations for about 20,000 spectators. There are 212 box seats, 12,232 arena seats, and accommodations for 12,000 spectators, which, added to the capacity of the special stand for the swimming events, brings the total capacity up to about 40,000.

The arena measures 110 metres by 70 metres, and it is here that the world's association football, gymnastics and swimming championships will be fought out in 1916. The swimming pool allows 100 metres to be swum, straightaway, the water varying from 1.9 metres to 2.2 metres in depth. On the right and left will be large spaces for the gymnastics exhibitions which make up such a large portion of the program at international meets held in Europe.

The cinderpath in the Berlin stadium on which the American runners are expected to shine, as they did at Stockholm, measures 400 metres in circumference with a 200 metre straightaway, which was 30 metres missed at the Stockholm games. The track is said to be already the fastest in Europe and should, of course, be even better when the time for the Olympic games rolls around three years hence. The track is built so that seven runners can run abreast in lanes without a semblance of crowding.

Outside of the running track there is a bicycle track of cement measuring 300 2/3 metres, on which the Olympic bicycle championship events will be ridden. The Germans plan to feature bicycle racing on their program much more than did the Swedes at Stockholm last summer. At the Swedish games there was but one bike event—a heart-breaking grind of 200 miles around Lake Malar, which kept the pedal pushers at their work for more than ten hours.

Grunewald, where the Berlin stadium is located, was formerly a forest, but is now a beautiful big park. It is reached from the centre of the city by trolley cars and a fast train service in less than half an hour.

Plain Garden Sage Darkens Gray Hair And Is Harmless

Says Sage Tea Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre.

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what's the use, you get a large bottle of the post-office tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," a drug store here for about 50 cents. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and dab it on your hair, taking care to spread it all over a time. These gray hairs are coming away, becoming faded, and thinning and thin have a chance of growing again, because after one application the gray hair and the new hair become luxuriant, dark and beautiful, all dank, greasy, sulphureous and falling hair gone.

It is generally assumed that the meeting in the Kieler Bight will be a military situation caused by developments in the Balkans will be the subject of discussion between the monarchs and their ministers.

PERMITS REVOKED.
Columbus, O., July 2.—The state board of health today revoked the permits of W. S. O'Brien of Springfield and W. S. O'Brien of Springfield, both of whom served outposts in the Spanish war, for alleged criminal practices and the used said that as the reason for the revocation.

As regards only some of his statements, he cannot be the brother of the Countess Ledochowski and the Cardinal of the same name, there is too great a difference in their surnames, and again none of our Monasteries, either near Bordeaux or any other parts of France, has been destroyed, neither could he have belonged to our Order in "Sierra Leone" for we have no house there, the only African Monastery he could have been in and claim to be a Trappist is Marimhill (Natal) but I was there in 1907 and during the three previous years, at which time no such person had ever been there.

Trusting that this may be of some assistance and with sincere good wishes,

Yours very faithfully in Christ,
EDMOND M. O'BRIEN,
O. C. B. (Trappist).

I know Countess Ledochowski very well and she never had such a brother.

Her Hands and Arms Made Marvelously Beautiful in a Single Night

FREE PRESCRIPTION DID IT.

Camille de Verjee says: "Had anyone told me such wonderful results could be accomplished so quickly, I positively would not have believed it. My arms and hands were covered with tan and freckles, my neck was dark and discolored from the use of high collars. All these defects were obliterated by one application of a free prescription, which I am pleased to give to anyone, free of any drug store and cost a one-ounce bottle of Lescage's Compound. Pour the entire contents into a two-ounce bottle, add one quarter ounce of which alcohol and fill with water. Prescribe this prescription at your own home. Apply night and morning. It makes the skin soft and beautiful, no matter how rough and red it may be. One application will delight you. I have given this prescription to thousands of women and they are all just as enthusiastic as I am. Try it on your face, neck and shoulders and you will be agreeably surprised. It is a thoroughly cool and soothing and is not affected by perspiration. It will not rub off."

THREATEN TO LOCKOUT THEIR 20,000 EMPLOYEES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Chicago, July 2.—The building material interests threaten to lockout their 20,000 employees within ten days, if before that time the building trades union's do not settle the jurisdictional strikes which resulted two weeks ago in the lockout of 30,000 men by the contractors. Construction work on improvements valued at $20,000,000 has been tied up for two weeks.

"Conditions in the building industry for the past several years have been unsatisfactory on account of numerous strikes upon buildings, principally because of jurisdictional disputes between labor unions, reads the resolution adopted last night by the material men.

"The strikes have caused innumerable and almost constant disturbances in the building industry, and it is due to this unwillingness to settle the dispute among themselves that results in continuous strikes.

A lockout by the material interests would bring the total of men affected by the labor trouble in Chicago up to 50,000.

A DAY OF CELEBRATION

"It is with the greatest pleasure I write to let you know that yesterday my husband and I celebrated our anniversary of a happy and prosperous year—the first one in our 16 years of married life. My husband, when not under the influence of liquor, was the kindest and most considerate of men. But his appetite for liquor had got so far beyond his control he was rarely ever sober, and I had given up in despair of his ever reforming. But, thanks to a kind Providence and a good friend, he was induced to try the Neal Three-Day Treatment at the Neal Institute, with the result we have enjoyed a year of happiness and prosperity, after these long years of misery. If any statement I can make will imbue others with the confidence to take your treatment, it will at least make me feel as if I had been of some service to some suffering wife and family.

This is only one of the hundreds of letters received from grateful people who have been saved from the drink habit. If you are interested, write or call for further particulars. The Neal Institute, 1320 Main St., corner of Kendal Place, Columbus, Ohio. Telephone Bell East 860, Citizens 15622. adv

CLAIMS OIL IS BEING DRAINED FROM HIS LAND

Unusual Suit Filed by Hanover Township Farmer Who Asks $10,000 Damages.

An unusual suit was filed in Common Pleas court Wednesday by Frank Fluhart in which he seeks to collect $10,000 from the Everett Gas & Oil Co., for alleged draining of his twenty-six-acre farm lease in Hanover township. He is represented by J. M. Swartz and Fitzgerald & Montgomery.

Fluhart says in his petition that on March 7, 1911, he leased his 26 acres to the company on condition that if they did not drill on it within six months he should receive an annual lease price of $1 an acre. The first year's lease price has been paid, he says, but he refused to accept lease money tendered him later when they as he alleges, the company refused to drill on the lease.

He says there is oil under the land and that 200 feet away is good flowing well, and that the company is pulling from the north and south of his lease, so that it will be unproductive, as he believes, when it is drilled on. This drain on his property he says is a damage to him of $10,000.

The "Movies"

"The Battle of Gettysburg" without a doubt the greatest war picture ever made opens a three days' engagement at the Auditorium tomorrow. Two performances will be given each afternoon and two, each night, commencing at 1:30, 3:30, 6:30 and 8:30.

An absorbing story leads up to the eve of the conflict. Stonewall Jackson was dead and Grant was besieging Vicksburg. In desperation, Lee marshalled his forces and made a dash to the north with 59,000 men. The Union army, numbering 77,000, met him at Gettysburg on July 1, 2, 3, 1863, and there followed a bitter struggle with booming cannon, bursting shells, thrilling cavalry and infantry charges, hand to hand encounters and thrilling deeds of valor, all of which is most accurately shown in this wonderful picture. NEW WEIGHT LAW IS NOW IN EFFECT

Notice anything odd at the grocery yesterday? Didn't the grocer and all the clerks and the cashier have a worried look that couldn't all be accounted for by the heat? Did you feel surprised when the grocer told you he couldn't sell you a dozen eggs, and all the time there was a whole crate of hen fruit right before your very eyes?

Well, no wonder. The new weight law went into effect Tuesday, July 1. Hereafter, the only way you can buy eggs by the dozen will be by a written contract with the grocer. Otherwise you'll have to figure out how many ounces of eggs will make a mess.

You can't buy a peck of potatoes on a hot, unless you have a written contract, duly executed with copies in the hands of each party thereto. Nope. You'll have to buy your potatoes by the pound.

When the dairyman stops at your door you'll have to find out whether you want a half pound of milk or an ounce and a half of cream. You can't buy it by the quart, without a contract written and signed. You might get around that by determining the exact weight of a certain quantity of milk and then through force of habit use for a quart or a pint as the case may be. It looks like every dairyman would be compelled to carry a set of scales on his wagon to weigh out his supplies.

Won't it seem odd to ask for two pounds of vinegar?

Every clerk will have to become an expert at figures, so he may deduct the weight of the vinegar jug presented by each family without stopping in rush hours to put it on the scales.

It's a new order of things for the grocer and the housewife. Fortunately, it establishes weight as the standard alone, instead of having both weight and measure standards. It may take some little time to get accustomed to the new order, but once established it will be easier and will offer a protection to the merchant and to the consumer.

VETERANS

lated of interesting happenings connected with the reunion.

Chief Clerk George G. Thorne of the state department at Harrisburg, told of the call made by a Union veteran early in the morning of the 4th anniversary of the start of the battle, who related that his conscience troubled him because of the fact that on a bright night he had succumbed to temptation and had stolen a quantity of onions from the Thorne gardens which were located near the historic Seminary ridge. He told Mr. Thorne that he desired at this late day to recover the onions and to relieve his conscience. Needless to say his offer of money was refused, but Thorne would like to learn the identity of the soldier who upset eight beehives in the dead of the night and confiscated the entire crop of honey contained therein.

General "Tom" Steward of Pennsylvania, is telling an amusing story of a runaway veteran he came across in the big camp. The veteran is 85 years old and his son at the home announced decisively that under no circumstances should his aged parent go to Gettysburg. The desire to be here and meet his former comrades was so strong in the heart of the old gentleman that he climbed out of a window of his home and ran away, turning up here in good shape. He is now happy, and well cared for.

Wearing a tattered uniform of gray, Mr. Hunter of Alexandria, Virginia, was today the central point of interest on the streets of the town. Mr. Hunter is wearing the identical suit and hat which he wore at Gettysburg thirty years ago. The suit is in rags and has a bullet hole through one of his sleeves. He carried all his accoutrements used at Gettysburg and wears a union belt taken from a soldier. Mr. Hunter was a member of the Black Horse cavalry.

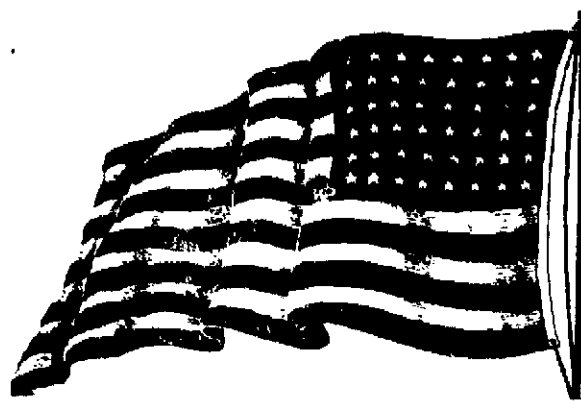

One of the oldest veterans in the big camp is Capt. W. H. Flieg of Houston, Texas, who was ninety years of age on his last birthday, February 22. During the war he served with distinction in the Marine department of the Confederate navy. Captain Flieg is one of the best preserved in camp, and is more active than many of the veterans a score of years younger.

A brother of the noted Francis Scott Key, composer of the "Star Spangled Banner," is here. He is John Francis Key, and he is a veteran of the Second Maryland Infantry of the Confederate army. Wearing a suit of gray, Key came into town weak and almost dropping from exhaustion. He is in poor health, but declared he is going to "see Gettysburg on this occasion or die in the attempt."

OHIO'S GOVERNOR QUICK TO ACT FOR VETERANS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Gettysburg, Pa., July 2. All the Ohio veterans camped here are proud of their Governor, James M. Cox, for what he has done for their comfort, sweltering in the heat as they are on this tented field. When the Ohioans arrived they found their tents occupied by New Jersey veterans. They refused to move, and when they were ordered to do so the generous Ohio men refused to force them. There was the obstacle of red tape, too, that prevented the Ohio veterans being properly taken care of.

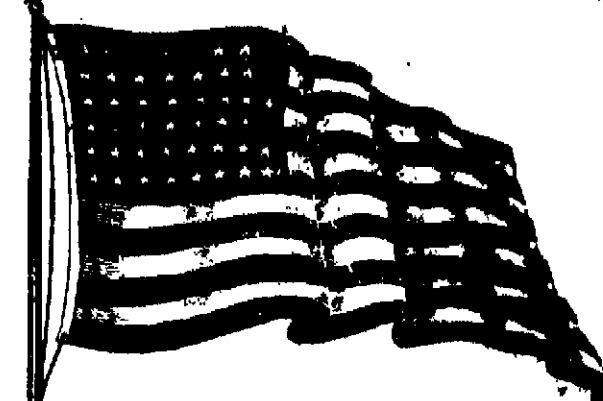

It was then that Governor Cox came to the rescue. There were 16 cents on the train that brought the Ohio veterans here, and Governor Cox stopped all parley by renting a separate field for which he paid the Years counted down the faces of the old soldiers as they cheered Governor Cox's timely action.

Governor Cox went over the line of Pickett's charge with Thomas Moon, of Newark, Ohio, brave son of Columbus's land. At first hand he heard a realistic account of the "greatest charge in history."
